

Site Engineers

Edinburgh

£25k - £35k (dependant on experience) + excellent benefits

The company:

With over 125 years' experience and numerous success stories across the globe, we at Bilfinger Berger are world leaders when it comes to construction and infrastructure projects. Indeed, our highly rated technical expertise and proven management approach is currently being successfully deployed across the exciting Edinburgh Tram project – where you can now make your mark.

The role:

Playing an essential role in the project's success, your proven site engineering experience will be vital. Here, you'll take full responsibility for the co-ordination and control of all technical and quality aspects.

What we're looking for:

The importance of this role means you must have extensive experience of major civil engineering projects, including highways, utilities and structures. Fully aware of the challenges of working in a busy city centre, you'll be skilled in the operation of the latest construction surveying equipment.

To apply, please send your CV and a convincing letter:
